

Proposed by Ansel Adams

Sparked by Ansel Adams, a photographic center was approved at Sunset Center, Carmel, by Sunset Commission Monday night.

A non-profit corporation, called "Friends of Photography," is being formed, Adams explained, to operate the photographic center. A $2,100 check for a full year's rent in advance for the two rooms the photo center will occupy was submitted.

One room will be used for a museum to show top photo exhibits from all over the world and a library of photo books and material will occupy the second room.

A board of governors of 15 will elect officers and be responsible for maintaining high standards of exhibits, Adams said. Included are Cole Weston, Edgar Bissanz, Arthur Carmel, Rosario Mazzeo, former Boston Symphony business manager who recently retired here, Nancy and Beaumont Newhall of Rochester, N.Y. and others to be announced later.

WESTERN CENTER

Adams said that he hopes the photographic center will have an impact on creative photography in Western U.S. as Eastman House, Rochester, N.Y., has in the East. "We will bring in shows of the talent of the world," he said. Lectures on the subject will also be featured in the auditorium.

The Sunset Commission accepted with appreciation sketches by Carmel Valley artist Marlinde Von Ruhs of proposed landscaping and lighting by nine lamp posts for the front of Sunset Center.

Request to rent three rooms for studio use was referred to the Commission's Administrative Committee, headed by Dr. James Gilman. These were from Marlinde Von Ruhs, who said she would plan to maintain her CV gallery for painting sales; by Peninsula Performing Arts, a group of ballet instructors headed by Kira Ivanovsky and Dale Leffler, who want a place to meet and to instruct occasionally, and by Mary Burr Anthony for a ballet studio.

The commission rejected an application for storage of two large Christmas displays by Edyth Plamondon.

Cole Weston, manager of Sunset Center, said he had turned down applications such as from a ping pong club and speed reading group. "We're interested in long-term leases to creative groups and people," he added.

Herbert Heron, Carmel pioneer and former mayor, has offered the city his historical collection of materials on Carmel if room can be made, Chairman Peter R. Dyer announced.

HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Carmel Arts Commission will be given the choice of two locations in the Center for historical and children's art museums.

A study of a shell over the stage to improve acoustics in the auditorium will be handled by the Bach Festival, according to an offer from Brooks Clementt of the board of the Festival. This was also in accordance with the recommendation by Mr. Mazzeo, formerly of the Boston Symphony.

Weston's report on improvements under way and planned was accepted.

Stirrup Cuppers to meet Firemen in rare contest

A contest of fierce dimensions is scheduled to take place Sunday night at the Cypress Bowl in Monterey.

The Stirrup Cup Bowling Team has challenged the Carmel Valley Fire Dept. and each is confident of victory.

Chip Collins, fire chief, told The Outlook, "We'll bowl 'em left handed and beat 'em. Clean living will out!"

Sam Boardman, self appointed captain for the event, says, "The contest will be won by the skill and sharp shooting of the Stirrup Cup men."

Spectators are invited to watch the mayhem which begins at 7 p.m.

Tuesday night by Sunset Commission, which is relaying the plans to other city of Carmel commissions for recommendations. Manager Cole Weston offered a report on a variety of improvements under way and planned.

Chamber names TOP SECRET good Eggs

Presentation of the traditional "good egg" awards will be a highpoint of the annual Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce dinner being held Saturday night at CV Golf and Country Club.

Another tradition is the appearance of a well known community resident as guest speaker. This year, Assemblyman Alan Pattee of Corral de Tierra will address the members.

The annual award is given to one or more individuals in the community in appreciation of service far beyond the call of duty. The names of the "good eggs" are always a closely guarded secret until the actual announcement. Last year's recipients were Bob Jones, president of the Community Center; Morden Buck, chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Board; and Doyt Early, who serves on both boards.

Ken Van Hagen will be installed as the new president for the coming year, to succeed Tom Hefling, who will be treasurer. Others who will take office are: Don McKenzie, first vice president; Richard Brinton, second vice president. The new secretary is Mrs. Jack Black.

The new board of directors, also being seated, is made up of Tom Verga, Mae Youngberg, Tom Bottaro, Richard Brinton, Will Fay, Bob Kvenild, Lew McCreery, Pat Swan, Rex White and Luis Wolter.

The social hour will begin at 6:30 with dinner served at 8 p.m.

Community Center membership drive gets under way

Carmel Valley Community Center launches its annual membership drive this week with letters going out to all local residents. Support of the non-profit Center and swimming pool is totally through the $5.00 memberships and donations.

The board invites the Valley's many new residents to join the Community Center which is the home of CVYO and other civic organizations.

Flood control once again before CVPOA

Water and flood control will be the timely topics of discussion at the annual meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association on Thursday night. Meeting at the Community Center at 8 p.m., the CVPOA will also elect officers for the following year.

Loren Bunte, district engineer for the county Flood Control and Conservation District, will speak on all phases of flood control.

A.K. Fuller, division manager for California-American Water Co., will discuss its part in conserving and providing water, as well as its relation to flood control.

The proposed slate of officers presented by the nominating committee is topped by C.L. Underwood for president;

Roy Kaminske, vice president; John Briscoe, treasurer; and Dr. Ben Dahle, secretary.

Nominations may also be made from the floor, but those named must be present and willing to serve or have presented their acceptances in writing.

Nine Board members will also be elected and proposed amendments to the by-laws will be presented.

Moving creates excitement and chaos as CV Library gets new home

THE MAMMOTH JOB of "moving a library" was undertaken on Monday when Valley librarian Marge Ibsen (left) was assisted by Mrs. Lois Koolwyk, head librarian of the Monterey County Free Library. Said Marge, "We were bursting at the seams." Commented Mrs. Koolwyk, "One of the things we do best is move books." The library will soon be set in its new larger quarters next door.

The Carmel Valley Branch of the Monterey County Library has grown and taken on a new face... While chaos reigned early this week, the library was officially moved from its former space into the large quarters of Irene Baldwin's office next door.

In a way, the library was returning home. In the early 1950's, it was housed in the small room with the fireplace at the rear of the real estate office. The cheery atmosphere of that corner fireplace will be enjoyed again now that the children's section of the library will be located there.

In 1959, librarian Marge Ibsen moved her headquarters out of the cosy room by the fireplace and into the larger space adjacent to the Baldwin office. There it has remained until it was bursting at the bookcases.

"No self respecting library," Auntie Marge said, "would have the books so crammed in that you couldn't pull them out of the shelves... but we had reached that point."

Irene Baldwin, Marge's sister, also has a great love for the library. Marge confided that she has provided a home for it in her building since its early days, though Irene's interest in libraries started when her sister when a girl was chosen out of a group of spectators to place the box in the cornerstone of the Carnegie Library in Storm Lake, Iowa.

Great remodeling has been going on in the local building. The Baldwin office is now housed in a small section of the former library and the partitions in the original real estate office have been removed and bookshelves set in place.

There will be a "grand opening" next week when all is in readiness. Marge also extends an invitation to all those who have overdue books to bring them back to their new and enlarged home.

Four file for school board, unanimously back override

Carmel Unified School Board incumbents Hilton Bialek and Steven Sassoon both announced this week that they will run for re-election April 18. (Mrs. Roxanna Blanks will terminate her service with the board after seven years.)

The names of Richard Wilsdon, Carmel attorney and Dorothy Woodward Jones, Carmel housewife, will also be on the ballot. All four have declared themselves in favor of the override tax.

Bialek, a research psychologist, was appointed to replace Dr. Richard Snyder who left the board and the area 3 1/2 years ago. He stated, "It takes two or three years to get to know the ropes and I would like to put my experience to use. More importantly, since I was one of those instrumental in hiring Dr. Taylor, I'd like to be involved in getting some of his stimulating ideas realized."

Steven Sassoon, consulting structural engineer, was elected to the board four years ago with the highest number of votes. He said he will run again because he feels that continuity on the board is good and he is also anxious to support Dr. Taylor. Sassoon is past president of the Carmel Rotary Club and is vice president of the Carmel Music Society.

Mrs. Jones, whose four children have collectively attended Carmel High, Middle School, Sunset and Woods schools and who herself went to Sunset for six years before moving with her parents to Pasadena, believes her experience with children will serve her well as a board member. Her husband is a salesman at Sears, Seaside.

Since returning to Carmel four years ago, she has served as playground supervisor for River and Woods schools and on an English curriculum study committee. She believes, "The override tax is not too high this time and that the last election asked for too much at a bad time."

Wilsdon says he will be working for the override tax as he has in years past. He has been chairman of the Citizens Finance Committee recommending the former 75¢ override and is this year co-chairman of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools. He said, "There are a great many programs needed that we can't afford; the 37¢ tax can't do anything but keep things going. We must find ways to provide the best possible education with the money available."

Soft touch asked for Hi jumpers

Do you have any old pieces of foam rubber, foam pillows, mattresses, etc?

The Carmel Boosters Club is in need of donations of either the rubber or polyethylene foam to fill two pits for the high jumpers at Carmel High School.

Anyone who has pieces, large or small, may bring them to Ralph Updike at the Valley Lodge (659-2416). Those living in the Lower Valley or Carmel, could deliver the padding directly to the high school.

Taxes through the back door

With a burst of energy our newly elected governor is hard at work slashing the state spending. In our opinion, he is hitting an area that needs help, not hindrance.

Instead of forging ahead to find a way that more funds could be made available to education without increasing the property tax, he has taken the easiest route available... he's going to cut down on education... period!

The person who is hit by the cut in funds, and/or the charging of tuition in state colleges and university, is the one who can ill afford to send his child to any other institution. Those who wish will still send Johnny back to Princeton or Suzie back to Sarah Lawrence, but those who have not been able to build up reserves for their children's college education will now find themselves faced with a grim future of no higher education for their youngsters.

In a world of advanced knowledge, where jobs at even the lowest levels require a high school education, our state university and colleges have provided the opportunity for many who would not have been able to make it if high tuitions were charged. The education is NOT free... there are many charges that add up in most cases to $200 or more and a large percentage of students must work in order to support themselves. These are the ones who will find it difficult to continue.

On a local level, if charges at the state colleges are increased then the burden on the junior college is going to become intolerable. Dr. George Faul of Monterey Peninsula College has said that it would take legislative action to make it legal to charge tuition at the junior college level. Therefore, in order to meet the increased needs of these institutions, higher taxes will become a necessity.

This will do just what Mr. Reagan says he's trying to avoid. It will hit the property owner of Monterey County right where it hurts... in the pocketbook... and at a rate considerably higher than that of a local override for elementary education.

SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Kohner explains Carmelo School nongraded, team teaching program

Mrs. Anna Kohner wears two hats... principal of Carmel Woods School and principal of Carmelo School in the Valley. Before Christmas she brought Outlook readers up to date on happenings at Woods School. The following newsletter reports on Carmelo.

Carmelo School is operating under a nongraded, team teaching plan. Students are placed in two teams, with a kindergarten program undergirding the organizational setup.

In the Alpha group, consisting of mainly 6, 7 and 8 year olds, approximately sixty students work with two teachers in the morning and three teachers in the afternoon. Some activities can be presented more effectively in large groups. Other subjects are best taught in smaller groups. Occasionally two teachers will be working with most students, freeing the third teacher to help those who need extra assistance in a particular area.

The Beta group consists of seven, eight and nine year olds. There are three teachers and approximately sixty-five students. The teachers constantly diagnose to determine strengths and areas which need to be improved. Based on the diagnosis, groups are formed and experiences are given to meet the needs. Some groups are for short periods of time, while others may last several weeks. During the day children work together in large groups, small groups and independently. Many times a teacher will work individually with a child according to the need.

On Friday, Jan. 20, Dr. Jack Fraenkel, a consultant with the Tabla social studies program, worked with our teachers as part of a continuing series of training sessions designed to help teachers train students in cognitive skills. The social studies program encompasses four categories of objectives: Basic knowledge; thinking; attitudes, feelings and sensitivities; and skills. All activities for students are planned with these objectives in mind.

We are still awaiting the completion of our new library building. The main bottleneck seems to be the carpeting, which has not arrived—most frustrating! In the meantime, plans are afoot for a grand opening, with a program involving the school choirs and orchestra and displays of memorabilia of the early days of Carmelo. We will welcome the loan of pictures, old school books, scrapbooks or whatever for the occasion. Honored guests will be any and all former students, teachers, school board members and parents, so please call the school if you were involved in the early days of Carmelo and make yourselves known to us. Also honored will be our parent helpers and friends from the Carmel Valley Manor, who serve so faithfully in the library and as teacher aides.

In Short

FISHERMEN WILL be unhappy to learn that the dam at Lower Stoney Lake on Hunter Liggett Reservation was washed out during the heavy rains in November. Water was eight feet deep over the top of the dam and everything broke loose, washing out a fifty foot section from the middle.

Several bridges and roads downstream are also unuseable as a result of the high water. It was reported that there were fish lodged in trees 12 feet off the ground.

There are other lakes for fishermen beside Lower Stoney at Hunter Liggett but it was one of the best.

"SOME IMPORTANT and Interesting Aspects of Explosives" was the provocative title of a lecture, given with demonstrations, by Prof. James E. Sinclair last Thursday at the Salinas Rotary Club meeting.

Prof. Sinclair does his research "on sophisticated methods for the measurement and prediction of primary explosive parameters" at the Naval Postgraduate School Chemistry department.

EASTMAN DILLON, Union Securities and Co. were hosts for a special presentation and informative report on investments by S. Logan (Bud) Stirling of New York. About 200 persons gathered in the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club dining room to hear Stirling's evaluations and recommendations for market investment. The program was followed by a delicious buffet, the high point of which was a succulent wild boar, provided by Stuyvesant Fish.

A European New Year's custom heralded the procession of waiters carrying the boar around the dining room. Bright shiny pennies were placed around the platter and each guest took one, symbolizing good luck and prosperity. The shiny coins were to be kept throughout the year, guaranteeing that the holder would never go broke. Oscar Korn maitre d', told us that in Europe, the animal is more often a pig, either alive or cooked, but the beautiful boar served well.

(Among the investment recommendations were California's own Pacific Southwest Airways (PSA).

HORSES, AS well as youngsters grow strong and healthy in Carmel Valley as attested by the three horses who calmly pulled up the hitching post in front of the Chatterbox last weekend and walked off with it down Carmel Valley Rd.

STERLING MUMMERT reports that last week he gave his version of "The Concatenation of Yosemite" to the Tularcitos 4, 5, and 6 grade students. (We looked up the word... Webster says it means linked together or a series of inter-related events.) Sterling said he found the kids very attentive, (even though he thought the subject a bit advanced for the 4th and 5th graders) and he probably started questions going that "required answers from the already over-burdened Tularcitos teaching staff... so now he hopes to get an opportunity to talk on the formation of Yosemite to Middle Schoolers and get their reac-

Concerned parents ask for animal restraint

EDITOR: In this letter I would like to speak to every parent in Carmel Valley. How many of you know that you cannot legally force the owner of a dangerous animal to destroy that animal?

We became aware of this fact only through personal experience. Our 2 1/2-year-old daughter was attacked by a very large dog while we were in the Village one day. There were witnesses present. The dog grabbed her arm in its teeth and pulled her down on the sidewalk. As soon as the dog let go, and with the help of a nearby gentleman, we took her to a doctor. She has two bones broken in her arm, a large bruise on her forehead, and other minor injuries. She was hospitalized overnight and will be in a cast for six weeks. Later I talked with the father of another child who was bitten by the same dog.

The owner of the dog stated she has insurance to cover medical expenses. We explained that we felt the dog is extremely dangerous, but the owner refused to discuss having the animal put to sleep.

We contacted an attorney and the assistant district attorney, both of whom informed us that nothing can be done about the dog. There is a law to protect domestic animals from other dangerous animals, but no law to protect our children.

The owner is endangering members of her own family as well as members of the community by allowing the animal to live. No matter what promises are made to keep the dog chained up or penned up, there is no guarantee that it might not come in contact with another child, accidentally or otherwise.

How many times does such a thing have to happen before something could be done to permanently protect our children? The dog has already attacked twice. How many other dogs have been allowed to attack again and again because there is no law to protect us?

Why would anyone want to keep a dangerous animal? I am neither a dog lover nor a dog hater, but I feel a child is more important than a dog any day.

I would be willing to work to establish a law covering such situations involving dangerous animals. I am not sure how to go about this, but I would welcome the help of any interested person. Isn't the protection of our children important to every

News from Hacienda Carmel

The annual putting championship held for both the men and ladies of Hacienda Carmel will be held on Jan. 30 and 31.

Two rounds of nine holes each will be played on the Hacienda putting green, with the ladies competing against each other and the men challenging each other until the finals.

The winning man and woman receive individual prizes. The winner of the finals will be named after a final playoff between the two and the name of the overall champion will be engraved on a permanent cup.

George Salter is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the putting competition.

The sports calendar at Hacienda Carmel is full with the Ladies Shuffleboard Championships in the semi-finals. Midge Pitman is in charge of these arrangements.

Hal and Clarie Wright spent last weekend with Bill and Ade-line Marsh, old friends who have followed the sun to California and are now living in Walnut Creek. Other friends from Illinois who have just moved west, Pete and Tommy Carrick, joined the group and a busy talk fest ensued.

Enjoyment of the magnificent Japanese gardens surrounding the Marsh's home was somewhat curtailed by the storm, but the friends had enough news to catch up on, that no one really minded.

Mr. Kenneth A. Fuller, division manager of Cal-American Water Co., was the guest speaker at the Jan. 18th Casa Lobos Luncheon Club. Mr. Fuller's interesting talk outlined the scope of his company's operations in this area and probed some of the problems of the present and foreseeable future. A question and answer session brought up many points of special interest to Hacienda Carmel residents.

Mr. Richard Baumhoff, president of the Casa Lobos Club, announced that the next luncheon will be tied in with an all-day bus trip and visit to the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center at Palo Alto on Feb. 16.

January proves to be a busy month for the Carmelo 4-Hers. On Friday, the 27th, the annual potluck will be held at the Carmel Middle School cafeteria at 6:30. The potluck will also be a model meeting and the new officers will be installed. All members must wear their new uniforms!

After the meeting a demonstration will be given by Tee Tee Ingram. We will also have a guest, Mr. Westing, from the Extension Service, who will speak to us about plans for the future.

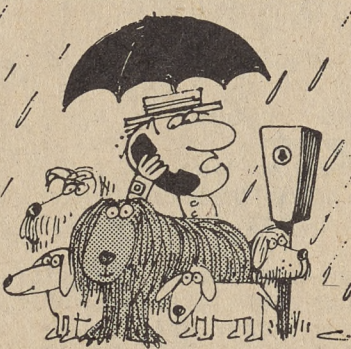

On Jan. 20, a special meeting on the making and using of pressing equipment will take place at 118 Wilgart Way, Salinas, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All leaders and mothers are welcome to come.

On Jan. 21, at Cal Poly, a Livestock Skills Day will be held, beginning at 9 a.m. Here is a chance to find out how much you know!

A REMINDER: Feb. 1 is the deadline for dropping members or projects. You may also add new projects before this date.

It is time to start thinking about Demonstration Night to be held in February. Let's see how many gold winners we can have this year!

WHAT'S DOING?

The 5 days of the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament meant months of preparatory work by Pacific Telephone Company.

In addition to the extra telephones and phone booths that were necessary, television transmission lines for live coverage of the tournament, which this year was telecast in color for the first time, had to be installed.

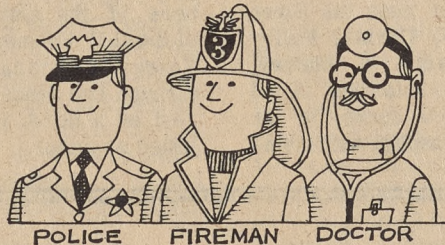

Placement of a mobile van atop Spyglass Hill allowed Pacific Telephone to chop 25 miles off its television transmission distance between the Monterey Peninsula and San Francisco, the nationwide distribution point.

This difference made color transmission possible this year instead of black and white.

In addition, live radio broadcasts were made from the tournament, and this also required special Pacific Telephone Company lines.

If you ever have any questions about making a Long Distance Call, whether you're going to dial direct or place the call through the Operator, you'll find helpful instructions in the front pages of your telephone book.

If a pay phone ever happens to keep your dime by mistake, I wish you'd let us know. We'd like to send it back. You may feel like hitting the phone, but all you have to do is dial "0" for Operator from another phone and tell her you've lost your money. She'll see that you get a refund in the mail. And if you'll give the operator the number of the phone that kept your dime, we can repair it quickly so it won't happen again.

POLICE FIREMAN DOCTOR

Here's something we should all keep in mind: it's a good idea to familiarize yourself with the list of emergency numbers in the front pages of your phone book. If there's ever a crisis, you can save moments that matter by dialing these numbers yourself. However, if you can't dial the emergency number yourself, just dial "0" for Operator. And please remember to give your location and phone number—that's important.

Cookery Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

MARGARET (MRS. JIM) ZIEGLER is a Carmel Valley artist who takes almost as much pains in mixing ingredients for delectable things to eat as she does in mixing paints for a portrait. And the results of both endeavors are to be whole-heartedly commended and enjoyed.

She gives us menu suggestions along with regional recipes collected in Key West where Jim's sister, also a culinary artist, has published a book titled "Conch Cookery."

She also contributes a recipe for Indian Curry, a heritage from her missionary grandparents, and one for an airy company dessert, Pecan Torte.

MARGARET ZIEGLER'S INDIAN CURRY

3 diced onions	4 cups roasted lamb, cubed
3 T. butter	2 cups diced green apples
2 T. curry powder	1/4 cup coconut
2 cups leftover lamb gravy

Cook onions in butter and add remaining ingredients. Simmer until apples are tender.

PECAN TORTE

6 eggs, separated	1 teas. baking powder
1 cup sugar	2 generous cups ground nuts
1 or 2 T. hot water	1/2 teas. cream of tartar
1/4 cup fine bread crumbs (Mrs. Z. uses Old English packaged)	1/8 cup rum (or more)

Mix sugar with egg yolks. Add rum and hot water, bread crumbs, baking powder and nuts. Fold in well beaten egg whites to which cream of tartar has been added.

Butter pan and dust with more crumbs to prevent sticking. Bake for 1 hour in a very slow oven (200 degrees). Serve with whipped cream.

KEY WEST DINNER NO. 1

Turtle soup (canned soup to which a tablespoon or more sherry has been added)
Black beans and yellow rice
Lettuce and tomato salad with a fresh lime squeezed over it
Guava jelly and crackers, Cuban coffee

KEY WEST MENU NO. 2

Bean soup
Picadellia
Salad
Flung (custard with a spoonful of guava jelly in bottom of each molded cup. Serve lukewarm)

BLACK BEANS

Soak overnight and boil until tender, adding chopped onion, green pepper, salt, garlic, oregano, olive oil and 2 tablespoons vinegar. Cook slowly and mash beans occasionally to thicken.

YELLOW RICE

Add enough saffron to cooked rice to make rice almost a cadmium yellow.

PICADELLIA

Saute a large onion and green pepper. Add can of tomatoes, half a pound of ground steak and a handful of raisins, a jar of olives and a jar of capers.

BEAN SOUP

Press leftover black beans through a sieve and add lemon juice.

Driver crashes into fences near River Ranch

An accident near the River Ranch on W. Carmel Valley Rd. sent Dwight T. Matney, driver of an auto that failed to negotiate a curve, to the Community Hospital with members of the ambulance crew of the C.V. Volunteer Fire Dept. Young Matney's car had crashed through two fences, coming to rest on a third. Injuries were listed as minor.

Outlook On Carmel

CARMEL VALLEY OUTLOOK

January 25, 1967

IRISH THATCHER Peter Slevin is silhouetted above the rounded "eyebrow" of the doorway as he trims reeds along the roof ridge of Carl Bensburg's stone cottage in Carmel. See pages 10 and 11 for an Outlook picture story.

Permanent home planned for early Peninsula Art

Announcement of the purchase of the former Wells Fargo Bank building at Dolores and 7th in Carmel, revealed the finalization of plans for the Carmel Museum of Art, Inc.

This venture is the plan and dream of two Carmel art collectors, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Russell White. (Mrs. White is the former Suzanne Crocker.)

Mr. and Mrs. White have long desired to establish a museum of this sort which will present a permanent collection of artwork from the Peninsula's early days. The main gallery will accommodate the top examples of painters in the era from Jules Taverier, 1870, through Armin Hansen, 1930. There will also be rotating exhibits in another room of the museum.

Director of the new Carmel Museum of Art is Kent L. Seavey, former curator of art for the California Historical Society. Most recently, Mr. Seavey has been with the M.H. de Young Museum for the Brundage Collection. A museum of the sort which the Whites envisioned has also been a dream of his own. Seavey has been working out plans for the new museum which he expects to open in July of this year.

The new museum will provide a wealth of history and background materials, open to any who wish to do research. Mrs. Betty Hoag, who has just received her MA at University of Southern California with a thesis on Jules Tavernier and the early art colony, is director of research.

An open house will be held on Saturday, Jan. 28, from 3 to 7, in the former bank building, for those who are interested. The entire premises will be redesigned and remodeled after drawing by Matt Laky of Carmel but this will give the public a "before and after" comparison.

Membership in the Carmel Museum of Art will be available and special programs and lectures will be open to members.

Among those who will sit on the board of directors are Mr. White, president; Carmel realtor, Robert Ross, vice president; Mr. Seavey, secretary, and Rear Adm. (USN ret.) C.W. Fisher.

Realtors endorse override tax

The Carmel Board of Realtors has endorsed the proposed 37¢ override tax for the Carmel Unified School District.

Guest speaker at the regular monthly luncheon at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club was Dr. Harris Taylor, Superintendent of the Carmel Unified District who presented a cost break-down of district requirements for a projected five year period. He said it was highly unlikely that additional State aid will be directed to the Carmel District and in order to maintain basic standards it is necessary that voters approve the override tax.

Key note of the speech was that property owners should realize one of the reasons people come to the Carmel area is because of its high educational standards. Should these decline it could follow that property values would decline because of the lessened demand to live in the Carmel Unified School District.

Dr. Taylor also compared the school tax in the Carmel District of $2.44 against Pacific Grove Unified District at $3.59 and the Monterey Peninsula Unified District at $3.27.

Fiesta to fete Farr

"The Fred Farr Fiesta," a thankyou for 12 years of dedicated service as senator, will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the Exhibition Hall of the Monterey Fairgrounds. A no-host cocktail party will be held from 6:30 to 7:30, with dinner following. A donation of $7.50 includes dinner and contribution for a gift to the former senator.

CV Lions Club celebrates anniversary

120 Lions and their wives attended the Carmel Valley Lions celebration of the 50th anniversary of Lions International in a gala affair at the Outrigger Saturday, Jan. 14.

According to Bill Stowers, president of the Carmel Valley club, the big event attracted Lions from clubs up and down the Salinas Valley, from Santa Clara County, as well as from clubs on the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas. Speaker for the night was Lenny Bee, District Governor, from the Saratoga club.

A bridal shower for Brenda Brandstetter on the eve of her wedding to Rodney Lambert was given last Friday night at the Cachagua home of Mrs. Fred Nason. Guests brought gifts for the couple's first home on the Lambert ranch and enjoyed an evening of visiting and refreshments. Mrs. Nason's nieces, Sylvia Zoellin, Gail Nason and Penny Brandstetter, assisted serving sandwiches, coffee, and punch from the Bride's table which was centered with white tapers, flowers, and a cake beautifully decorated with a bride and a ring.

Honoring Brenda were her mother, Mrs. Milton Brandstetter; the groom's mother, Mrs. William Lambert; the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Rose Tooker, and Mmes. Bradley Tomasini, Mable Cahoon, John Davis, Joe Zoellin, Ralph Juarez and daughter, Becky, Joe Jodoin, David Ostrander, Jimmie Bell, Jack Swanson, Carl Glasenapp, Pete Scardini, Bill Martin, James Barker, Marie Wallace, Fred Tuttle, Tony Jensen, Pat Peabody, William Lambert Jr., and Miss Caroline Wolter.

Formerly stationed in Oak Harbor, Wash., they will remain as guests of the Valley until completion of Lt. Cmdr. Ortmann's bachelor of science... Arriving from Brunswick, Me., were Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Carl Beth-ea who are making their home on Berwick Dr. Also working in the bachelor of science program, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Beth-ea were accompanied west by offspring, Carla, Randy and Dan....

Neighbors on Paso Mediano are getting acquainted with Lt. and Mrs. Malvin Bruce and their nineteen-month-old daughter, Monica Adrienne. Until recently stationed aboard the destroyer, U.S.S. Uhlmann, Lt. Bruce is a one year student of the Navy Management and Operations Analysis Course. They were formerly stationed in San Diego.... Welcome, Newcomers!

Home on Upper Circle after a three week visit in the East are Lt. and Mrs. John Lake. With sons, Douglas, Kevin, and Dean, they flew to Chevy Chase, Md., where they spent the holidays with John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lake, and Edwina's family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knipling of Arlington, Va.

It was their first trip home in seven years so they enjoyed the snow, visits with family and friends and exploring Washington, D.C., with the boys. Among the highpoints was their attendance at the Nutcracker Ballet at Constitution Hall, and the Smithsonian Institute.

A carefully guarded secret with precision timing (the guests arrived as the guests of honor were crossing their patio to leave for the evening!) went into making the celebration of their nineteenth wedding anniversary a very special one for Charlene and Don Koontz of W. Carmel Valley Rd. Francis and Dick Hall had organized the potluck dinner for the celebrants. A beautifully decorated cake with red roses and wedding rings was presented to their parents from the children, Karen, Chris and Allen, who had helped to keep the surprise. An exquisite cut glass vase was presented to the unwary host and hostess, as well as several joke-gifts.

Among those attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Harold Olsen, Dick Crane, Eddie Terry, and Mr. Frank Lucido. Party guests assembled at the home of the Richard Halls, who with their children have recently returned to make their home in the Valley. They are living in the "Old Fike Place," the stone home next to Carmelo School.

Impressive Garner exhibit at Coast Gallery to be held over

GARNER AT THE COAST

A young man who uses "found objects" to stunning effect is William Garner, whose exhibit at the Coast Gallery is being held over for the rest of the month.

Garner builds up his compositions boldly, layer on layer, using paper and glue, metal objects and plaster, oil paints and lacquer or whatever comes to hand to serve a mood or idea, but never a haphazard flight of fancy.

Each work is an experience the artist attempts to share (and for the most part succeeds) with the beholder, using skill and derring-do. An exciting show by an artist who deserves a larger audience.

AMYX AT THE DOOLEY

Leon Amyx, who heads the art department of Hartnell College, is currently showing at the Dooley Gallery a group of airy watercolors (and one bold oil) mostly done in Italy during a sabbatical.

Mr. Amyx has been compared with Cezanne and Dufy and his work does seem to have a French flavor, but with a depth of its own. His landscapes let you see clear down the road and his abstractions are delicate but lively and gay.

A reception to introduce Mr. Amyx to the public will be held at the gallery Thursday, Jan. 26 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Movie review

Film classic 'Diabolique' can still surprise today's sophisticated viewer

By DONALD MINOR

Henri-Georges Clouzot done it! It was he who committed this film horror a decade ago. It was, indeed, "Diabolique." M. Clouzot done it a decade ago, the deed was imported a year or two later, and the Village Theater is reviving (exhuming?) the whole ghastly affair right here in our midst.

Those of us who originally beheld "Diabolique" were convinced, beyond reasonable doubt that it was a genuine killer. We felt assured that this clouzot person had done something which would go down in cinema crime history. It was a shocker of such lethal voltage that the climax made women scream. And before the horrible climax what sympathy filled our hearts when the Brutish Headmaster (played with devastating over-emphasis by M. Comment s'Appel-t-il) beat and ridiculed his delicate Venezuelan wife (portrayed with frantic ineptness by Madame---aha!---Clouzot) and openly asks his mistress (played with obedient skill by Simone Signoret) for kisses in front of his poor wife! And what terror gripped us all as the tortuous, grisly circumstances closed in upon poor Madame Delassalle.

But these responses excited in another time. This was a relatively innocent one, before such encounters as "Psycho," before the New Wave washed cinema verité upon the beaches

International Night features a 'Night in Venice'

MR. AND MRS. C. MARK THOMAS enjoy a pause with Tom Tomlinson, who is costumed as

day. This was the latest in the series of International Nights presented by the Inn.

Exciting mystery play opens next at Studio Theatre

An exciting mystery-comedy, "Catch Me If You Can," follows "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel. Opening Feb. 3, it will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights to mid-March.

The fast pace of "Catch Me If You Can" starts with the first scene. A man summons the police to investigate the sudden disappearance of his new bride from the isolated mountain lodge where they are honeymooning. A pretty girl arrives who claims to be the missing wife despite his violent protests that he has never seen her before. A priest supports her story, a detective tries to determine who is perpetrating a fraud, two murders are committed and the audience is kept on tenterhooks until all is resolved at the final curtain.

Adapted by Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert from a play by Robert Thomas, "Catch Me If You Can" drew praise from the New York critics for its suspense, its double surprise ending and its literate comedy. The Studio management predicts that mystery fans will class it with "The Mousetrap" which ran so long in New York and London.

The local production is under the direction of Michael Keller with setting and lighting by Bob Evans, Jr. Reservations for dinner and show at $5.50, or show alone at $2.75 may be made by calling 624-1661 or 624-2321.

ESPECIALLY IMPORTED from Norfolk, England are the reeds used to thatch the cottage which looks out on Carmel Mission to the front and over the meadows at the back.

PETER SLEVIN THATCHES BENSBURG COTTAGE

PETER SLEVIN carries a bundle of Norfolk reeds to the cottage he is roofing with thatch for Carl Bensburg on Rio Rd., Carmel.

SHEERS ARE USED to clip the thick mat of thatch.

An Outlook picture story

He learned the art of thatching from his father in County Donegal, Ireland

ERECTING THE SCAFFOLDING below a dormer window which looks toward the Valley on the steep side of the hillside cottage.

The most interesting roofing operation on the Peninsula this winter has without a doubt been the thatching of the Bensburg cottage on Rio Rd., Carmel.

The incongruity of a stone cottage with an authentic English thatch, just across the street from an authentic Spanish colonial tiled-roof mission, in an area steeped in Spanish tradition, bothers on-lookers not one whit.

Stopping to talk with a friendly, imported Irish thatcher off and on for the past two months has added to the fun and the privilege of living or visiting in the area.

Peter Slevin from Donegal County near Donegal Town is about finished now. Next week, if all goes well, he'll be in Victoria, Canada, repairing the thatch of Anne Hathaway's cottage and then perhaps there'll be work for him on a replica of Shakespeare's birthplace at the same hostelry.

ON TO PLYMOUTH

From there, and in hopes that it will be summer by then and the snow will be melted on the Eastern seaboard, the Irish craftsman will be off to Plymouth, Mass., to put some new thatch on some old cottages.

Mr. Slevin remarked that in the Old Country, thatched roofs were once a sign of poverty; now they are a sign of affluence.

Thatching was not encouraged in Ireland after "The Troubles" when the country was eager for modernization. But now the reeds that grow along the Shannon are being put to use once more, because of their beauty and durability. (A well-made thatched roof will last 70 years, Mr. Slevin says.)

Peter Slevin learned the rudiments of his trade on the Irish farm where his father raised sheep and cattle and did thatching in his spare time. But it was in England that he earned a certificate of proficiency from the Institute of Rural Industries, an organization created to preserve and stimulate skill and interest in rural crafts such as saddlery, pottery-making and blacksmithing as well as thatching.

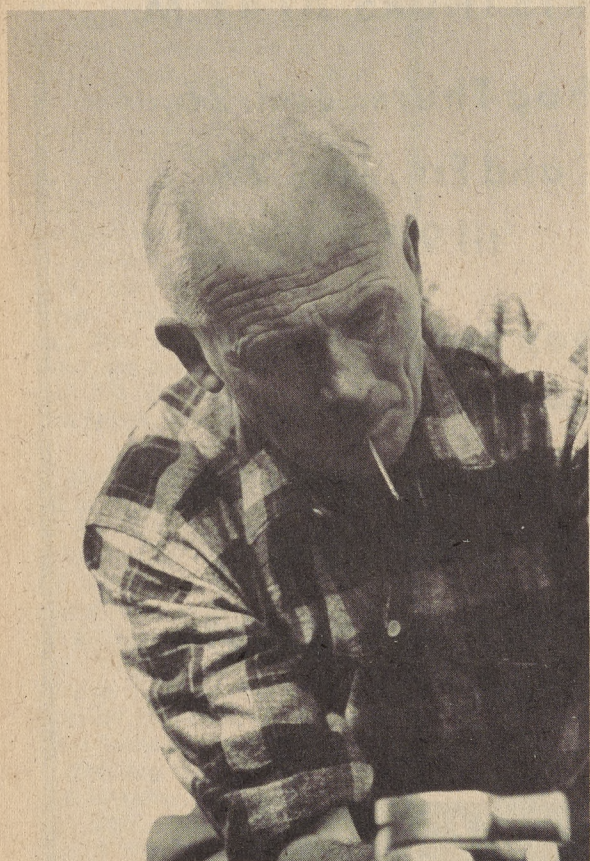

NATIONAL TRUST

In England the best reeds come from Norfolk County where the townsfolk are proud of the numbers and excellence of their thatched buildings. In some villages in Norfolk new roofs are not allowed to be anything but, and a completely thatched village is under government protection.

The National Trust is also keen on preserving the historical roofs of Tudor England and it was while on the job of repairing the roof of the original Anne Hathaway cottage in Stratford-on-Avon that Peter Slevin was spotted by Carl Bensburg and after a friendly chat, was persuaded to come to Carmel and add a bit of old England to the predominantly Spanish atmosphere.

Mr. Slevin likes it here and he'd like to stay... but not forever. Someday he'll return to the green land which now also thinks highly of old buildings, such as the cottage of patriot Padriac Pearse in Rossmuck, Conamara, on which he did a rethatching job. He has also worked in Killarney and Gengariff, places of such beauty that just hearing their names can make an Irishman long for the old sod.

Photos by Robert Isaacs

DONEGAL CRAFTSMAN holds nail between his teeth while he concentrates on his work. He intends to see some horses run and watch some golf before leaving the States for work in Victoria, Canada, this week.

EAGER TO GET STARTED on a career of "Man's Best Friend" is this 8-week-old waif. Someone will have to be a friend to him first, because he needs a family of loving people to settle down with and take care of for the rest of his life.

Suki is black and white, a labrador-husky cross. Humane Officer Gwen May has lots more just as loveable in assorted colors, sizes and shapes at the S.P.C.A. Animal Shelter at 2099 David Ave., Pacific Grove. You could telephone her at 375-3333 for more information.

Valleyite Al Giordano awarded PhD in business education

Al Giordano of 38 Upper Circle was notified this week that he will be officially awarded the fruits of six summers' work in Canada and years of research and study on his own, when he receives a doctorate in business education from the University of Ottawa in May.

An instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, Giordano finished his thesis at his home during a sabbatical leave last year when he also attended an 8-week session at the National Science Foundation Economics Institute at the University of Missouri. His family accompanied him on this trip, spending some time with Mrs. Giordano's family in Indianapolis.

Giordano has three other degrees: a B.A. from Arizona State, an M.E. from the University of Pittsburgh and an M.S. from Indiana U. He is the author of a two-volume textbook, "Business Machine Calculation," which is used in schools throughout the country.

The Giordano's have lived in the Valley for three years. Their sons Greg and Jim attend Mission School in Carmel; daughter Barbara Lynn goes to Tularcitos and preschooler Maria attends Betty Antoncich's nursery school.

Rd., invited classmates to a dinner party at his home last Tuesday evening celebrating his seventh birthday. Games, including a hilarious treasure hunt following balls of yarn to hidden treasure, were organized by Benje's sister, Tegan and her friend, Kathy Simpson. The girls and Benje's grandmother, Mrs. Betty Speiser of Carmel, also assisted with the dinner.

Birthday presents to Benje were presented by John Wesley Farr, Billy Bugbee, Robert James, Gary Condren, Rogan Hattan, Douglas Lake, David Massaglia, Kent Swanson and Ronnie Gayman. Following the birthday cupcakes, the boys and their first grade teacher, Mrs. Elaine Sandberg, were transported to the J. Fredrick Ching Planetarium at Hartnell College in Salinas for a never-to-be-forgotten trip into outer space.

Conducting the lecture for his fascinated audience was R. Adm. C.E. Dickinson, USN (ret), a Valleyite who makes his home on Horizon Way, and is a professor of astronomy at Hartnell College. Regular planetarium programs are presented to the general public without reservation on the first Tuesday evening of each month through May at 7:15 and 8:30 p.m. For group reservations or information concerning the planetarium call 422-9606 ext. 31. An enthusiastic contingent from Carmel Valley heartily recommend it!

A party, a celebration unequalled for many years in Carmel Valley, was given Saturday night in Jamesburg by Mr. and Mrs. William Lambert. More than two hundred friends, members of the family (and 'tis said, "even a few hunters came out of the hills to join the festivities!") were invited to the Chivaree to celebrate the wedding that afternoon of Brenda Brandstetter and the Lambert's son, Rodney.

A band from Salinas played for the dancing that continued until dawn while the guests enjoyed cocktails and the delicious bull's head barbecue. Also on the menu with a host of side dishes were barbecued pig and barbecued chicken.

While commuting to and from Salinas to report daily for jury duty, Louise Steliga has time to reminisce about the happy family reunion held during the holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.P. Fisher of Long Beach. The only member missing from the family circle was the Steliga's son, Bob, who was on duty in Da Nang. Joining Tony, Louise, and their daughter, Jody, were their son and family, Tony Jr., and the families of Louise's two brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. Bettie O'Neal celebrated her birthday the same night at the Casa Carmela opening. Friends had gathered earlier for cocktails at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Parker. Dining later at Casa Carmela were Bettie, the Parkers, Mr. and Mrs. George Corrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Antoncich, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gardner....

Dropping by to welcome his new neighbor, Tom Bottaro and his staff, was Will Fay, who kidded that many of the faces resembled his staff from Will's Fargo!....

The Carmel Valley Lions Club came back en masse from Santa Cruz where they had attended a joint meeting with the Santa Cruz Lions....

All the gang from the Carmel Valley Realty Co. made up a party and visited Herb Brownell's "old homestead"... the original house was actually built by Herb in the forties after the war. Others in their party were Lois Deal, Lucille Chambers, Ada Roxbury, Mrs. Beverly Brownell, Joe Pastore, and Col. and Mrs. Curtis Ben-net.

'Diabolique' film review

of our conscience, before, if you will, we began to wonder where all the bodies went in the vast mystery of a South-east Asian war.

But let me assure you that these carpings are not to be taken literally. I should be distressed to learn that my snidery had put off any sincere Outlook readers, particularly young and hip ones, from catching Clouzot's creaky masterpiece. If the style is le corn veritable, the surprises are genuinely original. Even a demanding viewer should be repelled by the melodramatic didos of "Diabolique" no more than by similar didos in a Sherlock Holmes film, nor by the glittering new-model didos of the Bond vehicles. Besides, Clouzot was right about Simone Signoret, and we may all thank him for that.

My advice is: go and see "Diabolique," either again or for the first time; then, if you want to see a really grisly shocker, persuade Messrs. Martin and Geddis of the Tantamount, to bring back "To Die in Madrid."

All members of De Maria family participate in family businesses

The De Maria family of Rippling River Resort makes lots of music together.

Two of the five brothers have their own bands and just about everybody in the family is a musician. Angelo, the oldest brother, plays sax and has his own band as does Joe, who plays drums. They play on alternate weekends at Rippling River Resort.

Brother Manny is a saxplayer, too, and brother Morris is also a drummer. Half-brother Bill Chappell plays the accordion. Angelo's two sons, Angelo Jr. and Drew, both play the sax.

Their cousin, Mike Marotta, has led his six-piece orchestra as the featured band at Del Monte Lodge for the past 19 years.

The De Maria family were just the people to buy the old Cowan School property just beyond Carmel Valley Village and turn it into a resort. They not only provide their own music, but, as the area's major building contractors for masonry work, they were able to handle the extensive remodeling to convert the school complex into a resort with restaurant, swimming pool and tennis club.

Angelo and his wife Virginia now live at Rippling River Resort. They share the managing chores with Manny and his wife, Kathi, who live in Monterey, but usually spend weekends at the resort.

Five sons are also active in the construction firm, too: Angelo's boys, Angelo, Jr. and Drew; Manny's two sons, Manuel, Jr. and James; Joe's boy, Joe, Jr. and Bill's son, Mike.

Angelo was born in Marseille, France, although his people, who had been masons for centuries, were from Sicily. He came to Monterey in 1919 at the invitation of Joe Marotta, his grandfather on his mother's side, who had immigrated here two years before.

He went to work for Hugh Comstock, a well-known builder. Angelo became acquainted with Carmel Valley when Comstock started making adobe bricks on the location of Valley Lodge across from CV Community Center.

"It took a whole day just to drive out here then," he recalled. "We used to come out and camp."

Angelo assisted Comstock with experiments with different kinds of oil to discover the best to stabilize adobe into more durable building material. He recalled that Comstock sold the adobe works to Hans Sump who shortly moved it to Fresno, where it has grown into a large operation.

The first adobes that Angelo De Maria built were modeled after the Spanish originals of the area with solid walls several feet thick. "Then we began using pipe to hold up the roof," he said, "and then timbers like the present 'post adobe.'"

De Maria Construction Co. has grown into a big organization since then. The brothers take pride in their brick-laying and tile and marble work. Their major jobs at the moment include the three-story Macy's store in the Del Monte Shopping Center, the new post office and United California Bank building also in Monterey, and Del Mesa Carmel development in Carmel Valley, probably their biggest job yet.

The versatile De Maria's also find time for sports and hobbies. Angelo's wife Virginia who is from Seattle, is a potter and ceramic artist and he first met her while re-bricking her kiln.

He taught her to do fancy water skiing, and she won the California trick water ski championship several years ago.

They are enthusiastic skin divers, an interest which led them into the manufacture of rubber wet suits in the 1950s. "We tried to patent our 'Monterey Suits' which were chiefly for water skiers," Angelo said. "But the patent office ruled they were clothing and couldn't be patented." When the price of such suits dropped from $80 to $30, Angelo decided to concentrate on construction and music.

As for Rippling River Resort, and two new courts to the two old ones. They have hired Stella Brewster as tennis pro. She moved to Rippling River from the Tahoe Racquet Club; she had been at John Gardiner's Tennis Ranch for several years before that.

A sauna bath and additional rest rooms are also scheduled in the near future.

"There was a time when I laid bricks all day and played with my band most of the night," Angelo reminisced. He played not only locally but in San Francisco and Yosemite. "But that's too rough a life. But it taught me something about the entertainment business, which should help with Rippling River."

Women's Club announces meeting change

Miss Billie Mans and Mrs. Thomas Hefling, co-hostesses for the February meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club, announce a change in plans. Originally slated as a dessert meeting at the Community Center, the Club will now meet for a buffet luncheon at Lou's Casa Carmela (formerly Reuben's). Reservations must be made by Jan. 26 by phoning 659-2432 or 375-7722. Baby sitting will be available at the Community Center with a 50¢ fee charged per child.

The Rhyming Philosopher

We've grown so accustomed to hope for the best
That only a few of us ever protest.
We're so out of touch with the facts, we're amazed
And can't understand why our taxes are raised.

We want better highways and bridges and parks,
And beaches and schools; as our neighbor remarks
The government pays for it all, we suppose,
Which shouldn't concern us a bit, goodness knows!

We read in the papers who's murdered or died,
Who went to a party, who showered a bride.
We sing of the virtues that money can't buy,
But nobody tells us why prices are high!

This nation was founded so freedom could reign,
But not very much of these precepts remain.
We're free to obey all the laws of the land,
But why there's so many we can't understand.

What non-fiction book have you read to the end?
What government meeting did you last attend?
What voice have you uttered or joined to be heard?
Or don't you believe what we get we've deserved?

Own a Lot? Want to Sell?

Our Spring Brochure Featuring Especially Attractive Building Sites Goes to Press This Week.

Should Your Lot Be Included?

Building costs are going up. Money is still tight and interest rates are high on construction loans. Perhaps you will need our professional help to find a buyer this spring.

We feel fortunate that our particular clientele is not so much affected by these factors as the average. Our buyers often pay cash for their lots and can build without dependence on maximum financing.

Carmel Hi varsity cagers win one—lose one

SPORTS

Carmel High varsity cagers smothered Gonzales 63-30 Saturday in a league game there, but the Padres went down in the two preliminary games, the JV's 59-46 and the freshmen 34-25.

Live Oak High made a clean sweep of three Carmel games Friday on the home court.

The sad Carmel-Live Oak scores were varsity 65-47, JV's 68-39 and frosh 56-33.

Padres are scheduled to play San Lorenzo Valley Friday, Jan. 27 here and Gilroy Tuesday, Jan. 31 at Gilroy.

Tularcitos loses to Middle School

Middle School A team, chiefly 6th graders, won a thriller from Tularcitos Saturday 24-21. Leading the Middle Schoolers was Jim Mallette and pacing Tularcitos was Mike Feeney.

The Middle School 5th grade B team walked away from Tularcitos 27-6, with Jeff Hall and Will Moore setting the pace.

The same Middle School teams split games with Mission Thursday.

UNUSUAL DILEMMA is this spot for Fred "Buzz" Rainer, popular English teacher and golf coach at Carmel High, playing for the first time in the Crosby Pro-Am. Here he is near the dangerous 16th hole on the Cypress Point course. Pro Frank Lopez of Hayward and Rainer scored a total of 214 for the three days, coming out about in the middle of standings.
